'Zack' Ingram Is Elected Mayor Of BG; New Budget Adopted

BELLE GLADE — Commissioner Z. T. "Zack" Ingram was elected Mayor of Belle Glade in a unanimous vote by fellow commissioners at that governing body's regular meeting Wednesday night.

Ingram succeeds as Mayor, Walter Ashley, who was re-elected to another City Commission term by voters in the city election Tuesday.

Evans, Ashley Win In BG

BELLE GLADE — W. J. "Bill" Evans and Walter Ashley were elected to the city commission, defeated H. V. "Shorty" Draa, 473 to 167, to represent north, and Fred E. Rider to represent central.

Municipal Judge George E. Tedder administered the oath of office to Commissioners Evans and Ashley Wednesday night.

Grid Clinic At Clewiston

CLEWISTON — Glades high school football teams will give football fans in the Okeechobee area a dress parade in the grid clinic here tonight beginning at 8:15.

Teams appearing in the pigskin review include host Clewiston, and Belle Glade, Pahokee and Okeechobee. They'll demonstrate formations and changes of rules, and compete in individual contests such as punting and passing.

Formal opening of grid warfare will be next Friday night when Sacrest plays and Belle Glade, Pahokee is at Bartow, and Okeechobee at Clewiston.

Cross Hotel To Be Re-Christened

PAHOKEE — Ownership of a downtown Pahokee landmark has changed hands with the purchase of the Cross Hotel building by Karl Mindlin, owner and operator of the Big Lake Store.

Mindlin said this week that the hotel will be closed about six weeks during which time it now the First Baptist Church of Pahokee. He was a Civil War veteran who owned and operated a general store on West Main Street before a fire destroyed it in 1927.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cross, who operated the hotel until recently, have moved to their farm at Sand Cut.

A TEST OF GLADES INGENUITY

Well, Why Not?

If Glades communities are to capitalize on the bonanza created by the location of the proposed Pratt and Whitney jet engine plant in Palm Beach County, utmost ingenuity and creative action must be exercised — now — by Glades leaders.

Nature has endowed the Glades area with attributes of climate, soil, and social liabilities (good, friendly people) which should attract Pratt & Whitney personnel to live here, and the myriad new satellite industrial "feeder" plants to locate here.

However, the fact that the P & W plant by existing roads is 20 to 30 miles from Glades communities, plus the fact that the county commission has not seen fit to consider building a direct access road from the Glades to P & W necessitates action.

OBSERVER offers these long-range suggestions to area leaders:

1. Investigate the possibility of establishing a commercial helicopter passenger service from the Glades to the P & W site. Conceivably this could be the first such commuting service in the nation, but remember that the Jet Age has arrived in Palm Beach County, and the Glades must take action accordingly.

A helicopter service could be entirely feasible, with pick-up "stations" located at the County Airport near Pahokee, the Belle Glade airport, as well as in South Bay and Canal Point.

The helicopter passenger service is feasible, too, when one considers traffic congestion problems now existing in residence-glutted coastal cities.

2. County airport near Pahokee must be activated and improved with facilities befitting the Jet Age, encouraging private use by P & W personnel to commute to their work, and commercial use by satellite industries.

A permanent control building must be built at the airport, permanent personnel assigned to it, landing strips lengthened to accommodate jet planes, and lights installed for around-the-clock service.

3. Ramps must be constructed on Lake Okeechobee waterways in both Belle Glade and Pahokee to accommodate handling of amphibious aircraft — both private and commercial.

There is no reason why the Glades cannot soar to the forefront with the Jet Age in competition with coastal communities. For one thing, our airways are relatively free and uncultured, whereas U. S. Air Force and commercial lines as well as private plane owners have pretty much usurped coastal skies.

With ingenuity, the Glades will keep up with Jet Age industrial development. Why not keep one step ahead of it?

GRID TICKETS ON SALE

PAHOKEE — People who held season reserved seat tickets last year for Blue Devil home football games will have until tomorrow to purchase the same seats for this season's games. Principal Clyde Canipe said this week.

Reserved seats are sold individually at $1.25, but the season ticket for the five home games is being offered at a total of $6.25. General admission fees are $1 per game.

Fans wanting to purchase tickets may call James Vann at 3471 or Julian Snyder, at 9434. The seating chart is at Snyder's Service Station, for those who wish to locate choice seats. About 90 reserved seats, all located between the 40-yard markers, are available.

The Law Catches Escapees

BELLE GLADE — Law enforcement officers were kept busy catching prisoner escapees in the Glades this week.

Early Wednesday morning officers captured two 14-year old boys who broke out of a Ft. Lauderdale detention home the previous day. They were spotted by police as they allegedly attempted to rob McMillan Service Station about 4 a.m. One boy was seized immediately, but the other drove away and reached Lake Harbor before being apprehended.

Another escapee from a prison road gang working south of Pahokee was captured near Kennedy's Grocery on the Pahokee-Belle Glade Road Wednesday morning after authorities had searched the area with bloodhounds the previous night in vain.

TUNESMITH

PAHOKEE — A popular song, "Doodle Le Doo," composed by Mrs. Luada Uldine Todd, wife of C. M. Todd, has been released by the Winston Royal Publication and Recording Co. of Hollywood, Calif. Mr. Todd is the author of both the words and the music. This is only one of a number of songs composed by Mrs. Todd. One of her sacred compositions, "I Met My Saviour Face to Face," was sung sometime ago over station WEAT by Mrs. Iva Lee Eschleman.

TEENAGE NEWS

The whole conference will be an effort to combat voter apathy.

Rep. Roberts said, upon his designation as the governor's personal representative "I feel highly honored to be chosen to attend this important conference for him."

GLADES FUTURE DAIRY CENTER?

MIAMI — The Glades farming area may become the center of Florida's dairy industry, the Miami Civitan Club was informed in an address this week by James E. Beardsley, Cleveland farmer and realtor.

Beardsley said the high cost of land is driving dairy cattlemen away from coastal areas. He said Glades muckland makes for better and cheaper grazing. The speaker noted that already the Glades area has become a center for beef cattle raising, with the Glades Livestock Market at Belle Glade being the leading beef cattle auction market in the state.

How About The Glades — P-W Rd.?

WEST PALM BEACH — Among other things, the county commission had roads on its mind at its Monday meeting — some roads, that is.

At the request of a news release from the commission, the group of commissioners had an on-the-spot inspection and picture-taking session on the road to the county is building from the Pratt and Whitney site to the Highway 90 extension, which leads toward Jupiter and West Palm Beach.

Earlier, the commission accepted the request of the request of the Glades representative to "take over" a six mile stretch of highway called the Belle Glade Airport Road, a part of the county's farm-to-market road system.

The news release did not indicate that the county commission had even discussed building a direct access road from the Pratt and Whitney plant to the Glades, as suggested at the Glades RDB meeting last week and endorsed by the Pahokee City Council Monday night.

JAYCEES SEEK BUYERS OF 5% SPORTS CENTER CERTIFICATES

PAHOKEE — Pahokee Harbor, a snack-dish, the Jaycees plan to have five restaurants and outdoor motors which will be developed into a major sports center, if the public, they are hoping to obtain the clearing for large boats, webbing for catwalks, and restaurant facilities.

The Jaycees still are on the lookout for a dockmaster, who they'd like to sign up on a year-round, salaried basis. Persons interested in landing the job are urged to contact Jaycees. Living quarters will be offered to the dockmaster.

Other officers of Pahokee Marina are: Ed Carver, 1st vice president; Charles "Sonny" Brown, 2nd vice president; Donald Tarr, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. R. C. Lane, who will serve on the board of directors.

Within the very near future, with other officers.

In exchange for developing the harbor into a big-time center of water sports activities, the Jaycee group will return the state two percent of its gross income, plus two cents per gallon of gas served, against an annual guaranteed rental of $100.

At Councilman John Hatton's suggestion, the council agreed to write a letter to each county commissioner urging the county to build a direct access road from the Glades to the Pratt and Whitney jet aircraft site north of Loxahatchee.

It was also agreed to write a letter to Pratt and Whitney officials in Connecticut to extend an official invitation to company employees who transfer to Florida, to live in Pahokee.

Tax assessment rolls were closed after approval was given to reduce certain assessments against property owned by Dr. L. W. Armstrong, by 20 percent, or $4,984. Assessments against property of Olaf Boe and R. Boe were re-grouped and re-assigned per actual ownership.

Both assessment changes were made upon recommendation of Hunnicutt & Associates, who compiled the assessment rolls.

Other major action, the council:

APPROVED Hatton's motion to raise the garbage tax from $1 to $1.50 per month for residences, and from $1.67 to $1.87 per month for business houses.

CURRENTLY

It was understandable that the biggest round of applause at the Glades RDB dinner last week came when a speaker suggested Glades people should put pressure on the county commission to build an access road from the new Pratt and Whitney plant to the Glades.

It was incongruous, though, that the suggestion wasn't forthcoming from a Glades resident. It came from a man living on the coast — C. W. Garner of Delray Beach, president of the County Resources and Development Board, which was the agency primarily responsible for enticing P & W to Palm Beach County.

Democrats are mailing out phonograph records with a campaign song, "Madly for Adlai," grooved into it. We trust the music isn't the type that will lure voters to sleep—and inactivity.

Commerce College Jets Program

WEST PALM BEACH — Bell Iles College of Commerce, which has prepared Palm Beach County students for business careers for the past 30 years, will begin its fall term on Monday, according to Merton B. Levinson, president.

This term, the college is inaugurating a new policy through offering extension and correspondence courses in communities where students find it impossible to attend day evening classes in the school's West Palm Beach building.

There is a strong possibility of holding extension classes in Pahokee and Belle Glade of sufficient students enroll."

Mr. Levinson said. He stated this new policy was being adopted this year because of the great demand for stenographers, secretaries, bookkeepers, accountants and business administrators, in both industrial and professional fields throughout the area.

Subjects to be offered in extension classes will include dictation, shorthand, bookkeeping and accounting, while those offered in the correspondence division will include speedwriting, business English, business mathematics, accounting on all levels, and other business administration subjects desired by interested students.

Belle Glade and Pahokee and the surrounding areas, over the past few years, have been growing by leaps and bounds and the demand for properly trained personnel has drained all sources of office employees, Levinson said. Future developments in these areas are going to demand an even greater amount of trained office personnel within a short time.

In order to cope with this situation, Mr. Levinson pointed out, Belle Iles College would do everything within its power to fill these demands as rapidly as possible. It was further announced that anyone interested in the extension and correspondence subjects to be offered as well as the day or evening classes may obtain this information by a personal visit, by writing to Bell Iles College, 305 Evernia St., West Palm Beach, or by calling Temple 2-6225.

The following students from the Belle Glade, Pahokee, and Canal Point areas that have attended Bell Iles College include Louise Stroble, Marie Funderburk, Martha Rose, Fred Corbett, and Olga Knight.

THE FOLLOWING STUDENTS FROM THE BELLE GLADE, PAAHOKEE, AND CANAL POINT AREAS THAT HAVE ATTENDED BELL ILES COLLEGE INCLUDE LOUISE STROBLE, MARIE FUNDERBURK, MARTHA ROSE, FRED CORBETT, AND OLGA KNIGHT.

WHERE'S THE DYNAMITE?
Where is all of the excitement that is supposed to come in an election year? Is this election going to be like a wet Fourth of July firecracker? One that fizzles and doesn't even make a tiny pop?

The Democratic and Republican vote-beaters in Washington are trying to get the people excited. After the dull showing made at the two political conventions — one in the city and one in the country — we overheard the owner of a TV station the other day, trying to talk a candidate out of buying time on his station.

"Please don't do it," he begged. "It will ruin me. Our rating dropped below 19.3 during parts of the political conventions — and the local movie houses had the best business they had enjoyed in more than two years. Nobody will listen to you, and you won't do my station any good."

We just returned from an automobile trip through Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia, and the Carolinas. A man in Bristol, Tenn., told us, "It doesn't matter which party is in, the government will get all the money you make anyway." We tried to bring him a political argument, but he just wasn't interested.

Nobody seems happy about politics. The reason doesn't seem to lie in controversy or in big issues. Rather, it seems to us, that folks are sick of hearing the same old thing — over and over again.

The professional politicians are worried about it. You can't get the vote out without getting folks aroused and excited. You have an exciting race without something to talk about. Financial worry is about the only issue — and that's been with us for so long that we can't get excited about that.

The Democrats are trying to get people stirred up by music. They have been sending out phonographic records in an effort to drum up some excitement. On one side is the Star Spangled Banner and on the other is a song called, "We're Madly for Adlai." Have you heard it? Our guess you won't.

It starts out, "We're madly for Adlai for President, a statesman with experience is his." The rest sounds about the same. It's a good song, maybe, but it won't crowd Elvis off the juke boxes. This isn't a crack at our friend Stevenson or a boost for the obnoxious Mr. Presley. It just shows how hard it is going to be to get people worked up over the campaign.

Maybe between now and November the Washington strategists can find something to stir up the voters. Maybe a touch of cold weather in October might help.

But one thing is sure. This is a big country. It takes a big effort to arouse it. It takes a big news story to make black headlines on page one these days. An erstwhile bank robber could steal a thousand dollars and the sheriff would form a posse to hunt for him and the country-side wouldn't sleep for days. Today, he has to steal half a million to get his picture on the Post office wall — and the chances are he won't even make most television newscasts.

So, whatever it is the Democrats and Republicans are going to do, they had better make it big — too. A few loud-talking politicians might be stirring up a bit of excitement here and around the country—but as for us—we're beginning to get tired

JAYNE MANSFIELD LAUDS KENNY FOUNDATION: "It is most comforting to know that the Elizabeth Kenny foundation is not only continuing its fight against polio crippling, but is expanding its program to include the rehabilitation of victims of many other neuromuscular disorders." Jayne Mansfield, star of radio, television and stage, declares in an appeal in support of the organization's 1956 fund campaign. Miss Mansfield, shown with a portrait of the late Sister Kenny, is being heard in television appeals across the country.

A DIRECT WAY TO HELP PREVENT CRIPPLING FROM POLIO AND ALLIED DISORDERS IS THE KENNEY TREATMENT AND REHABILITATION. LETS ALL CONTRIBUTE TO THE KENNEY FOUNDATION!

Specifically prepared for the Elizabeth Kenney Foundation, National Headquarters, 2100 Taylor Tower, Minneapolis, Minn.

Kenney Institute in Minneapolis Soon Will Be One of Country's Largest Rehabilitation Centers

Minneapolis, Minn.—A construction and modernization program now under way will make Elizabeth Kenney Institute here one of the country's most-complete inpatient rehabilitation centers for the care and treatment of nerve, muscle or joint disabilities according to Dr. Bruce Reinecker, president of the Elizabeth Kenney Foundation, with national offices in this city.

Established in 1942, Kenney Institute is the nation's original treatment center in the United States. Besides being the Kenney treatment center for a large area, it also is the International Kenney Therapist Training center. Well over 8,000 patients from throughout the United States and a number of foreign countries have been admitted here for polio treatment and rehabilitation. Here, also, have come doctors from many parts of the world to study and evaluate the Kenney method. Upwards of 150 registered nurses and physical therapists have come here to take the Kenney Therapist training course.

The construction of a second new wing and modernization of the existing structure will provide Kenney Institute with additional rehabilitation, research and laboratory space, Reinecker said. Red space, too, will be increased. Cost of the current building program, estimated at $1,500,000, will be met through a grant from national headquarters of the Kenney foundation and funds allocated by the federal government (Hill-Burton act) and the Ford foundation. "Kenney Institute will remain one of the most-completely staffed and equipped polio hospitals in the country," Reinecker declared. "The Kenney foundation will continue to provide treatment for those who contract polio and will offer rehabilitation to the fullest extent possible to those who have been crippled by the disease in the past."

"At the same time, we will continue to train registered nurses and physical therapists to become Kenney Therapists under scholarships provided free to qualified men and women. In addition, we are proceeding with our program of providing highly-specialized training for doctors and nurses, both from the United States and abroad."

Reinecker pointed out that Kenney Institute, Minneapolis, is being expanded into a complete rehabilitation center to treat and care for persons of all ages, races and conditions whose disabilities the medical staff feels may be lessened by such treatment.

Disabled persons to be treated include those with conditions, such as: poliomyelitis, nerve injuries, strokes (hemiplegia), spinal cord injuries (paraplegia), congenital disabilities, cerebral palsy (spastic paralysis), spina bifida, birth injuries, amputations and prosthesis training, rheumatoid arthritis, multiple sclerosis, contractures and Guillain-Barre disease.

"We are mindful that, in providing rehabilitation services to victims of muscle diseases and injuries in addition to polio, we are fulfilling the original purposes for which the Kenney foundation was established," Reinecker said.

ONE Modern U. S. Bomber = ALL Combat Planes in World War II

One modern U.S. bomber, with a crew of only three, can carry more destructive power in one mission than the combined air forces of all combatants could carry in World War II.

The terrible destructiveness of modern American air-nuclear power is the greatest advantage this country has against attack by aggressor nations.

During the 1955-56 season I used DITHANE M-22 exclusively over 1000 acres of tomatoes. Disease control was excellent ... In spite of generally poor growing conditions my overall average yield was 350 field boxes per acre, which was highly satisfactory under the year's conditions."

JOHN W. CAMPBELL

For excellent tomato disease control — grower uses Dithane M-22 exclusively

During the past few years, one prominent grower after another has found that DITHANE M-22 (maneb) helps give the highest possible yield of marketable tomatoes that growing conditions permit.

There are three reasons: (1) DITHANE M-22 gives outstanding control of late blight and also protects effectively against gray leaf spot, early blight, Septoria leaf spot, gray mold and anthracnose; (2) it is safe for blossoms, fruit, and vines when used as recommended; (3) it helps the vines stay healthier, with rich green foliage.

If you spray, you can obtain DITHANE M-22 in two bag sizes with just the right amount of wettable powder for any standard tank capacity. Your local dealer also has blended dusts containing DITHANE M-22 with or without insecticides.

DITHANE is a trade-mark, Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. and is protected by copyright.

Weddings

Audrey Meade Is Now Mrs. Marvin McDonald

Audrey Fayette Meade became the bride of Marvin Esden McDonald Saturday afternoon at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cowart of Canal Point. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. E. Garrett, pastor of the Belle Glade Methodist Church.

The couple exchanged vows before an improvised altar created by framing the fireplace with a arrangement of fern, sweet-heart roses and tall vases of pink and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waist-length, embroidered white satin gown made with long torso lines and piped with pale pink velvet ribbon, a full gathered skirt, sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her miniature hat with nylon veil was a creation of satin and braided ribbon adorned with heart-shaped rhinestones which matched her earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible centered with a nosegay of sweetheart roses tied with pink and white satin ribbons.

The matriarch of honor, Mrs. E. C. Cowart, wore a pink faille suit with white accessories and pink carnation corsage. The bride's mother wore an ice blue suit, and the bridegroom's mother chose grey blue. Both wore white accessories and white carnation corsages.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony.

The bridegroom, a civil engineer, is a graduate of Ashburn high school and Georgia Institute of Technology which he is attending now to get his master's degree in industrial management.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Meade of Canal Point and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McDonald of Ashburn, Ga.

HONOR BRIDE-ELECT, MISS MARY JERNIGAN

Mrs. A. R. Harrington entertained at her home in Canal Point last week with a coffee honoring her niece, Miss Mary Eleanor Jernigan of Clewiston. Miss Jernigan, a former Canal Point resident, is the fiancée of James Edmund Milton of Lake City, who is serving with the 11th Airborne Division, U.S. Army, now stationed in Munich, Germany.

Mrs. Paul Rardin, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. W. F. Jernigan and the hostess greeted the guests. Mrs. M. D. Geiger was in charge of the guest book, more than 100 friends called during the afternoon.

The house was beautifully decorated with summer flowers. The refreshment table was laid with a cutwork cloth of linen. Lighted white tapers in crystal holders gave a festive atmosphere, and an arrangement of sweetheart roses, centered with a miniature bride and groom, was the featured table decoration.

Mrs. George Kingsley and Mrs. C. G. Coburn presided at the refreshment table. Others assisting were Mrs. O. H. Chastain, Mrs. J. P. Parker, Mrs. J. S. Harrington, Mr. Mrs. D. B. Kepp, Miss Ann Henderson and Miss Frances Wilson.

Growers Fighting Cost-Price Squeeze

—through scientific farming

Since 1947, America's national income has increased more than 33%. But during the same period, farm income has dropped more than 33%.

Farmers got 53¢ from each bushel of corn in 1945, but last year they averaged only 41¢. Farm mortgage debt has risen more than 25% during the past eight years, and to the 22 million Americans who live on farms, the situation—to say the least—is trying.

But farmers are fighting back, and science is helping. On the national scene, here's what's happening:

Mechanization. An increase in the use of machinery has been in effect since 1946, and the rise is continuing.

Fire protection. Losses from fire are being sharply reduced as farmers replace inadequate wiring systems, the number one cause of farm fires.

Fertilizer. Anhydrous ammonia plants, since 1947, couldn't keep up with farmers' fertilizer needs, have doubled in productive capacity since 1953, and since 1947.

Molybdenum. Scientists have discovered that small quantities of molybdenum, often called "moly," are essential to plant growth. In some areas, crop yields have more than doubled after application of moly, yet only a few ounces of this inexpensive trace element are needed per acre.

Wise planning saves money.

Pesticides. New synthetic compounds have proved highly effective in fighting insects in barns, stock and in the field. Another new chemical is a weed-killer which kills broad-leaved plants rapidly but has no effect on narrow-leaved plants like corn.

There has been a host of other advances—in irrigation, crop rotation and other fields. Perhaps when it's all over—when prices return to their normal levels—the efficiency being introduced today will mean greater profits than would otherwise be had.

Recital On New Organ At BG Episcopal

Governor Collins said: "It's a great day for Florida and a great day for Palm Beach County."

Standing, left to right, are: Ralph J. Blank, sr., manager of the Resources Development Board, who, with the chairman of its new industries committee, worked with state officials in the seven month campaign to bring the industry into the county; Horace F. Holland, chairman of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission which agreed to trade its 7,000 acres of land for 10,000 adjacent acres purchased by Pratt & Whitney; B. R. Here is an artist's conception of the $42,000,000 Pratt & Whitney Aircraft jet engine plant to be built 17 miles north of Lovelock, N.C. It's $20,000,000 annual payroll and those of satellite industries expected to follow into the area will change the economy of Palm Beach County and South Florida, according to officials of the Palm Beach County Resources Development Board who spearheaded the local effort to obtain the plant for the county.

Administration and engineering will be housed in the two story building in the center, with about 2,000 high salaried engineers slated for the installation. The larger, one story structure in the rear will house manufacturing, with an additional 3,000 workers at full capacity. Test and laboratory facilities will be located in the area beyond the upper right hand section of the photograph. The plant will be on a 7,000 acre tract in the center of the 52,000 acre J. W. Corbett Wildlife Management Area.

AN URGENT PLEA TO:

Glades RDB, individual Glades communities, their chambers of commerce and civic clubs, and to area realtors, businessmen and leaders —

Let us put shoulders to the wheel of progress and take positive action to allow the Glades to keep pace with Palm Beach County's industrial development. Let us — each of us — act quickly and wisely to bring new industries and new citizens to our Glades communities.

BETH SHOLOM GLADES JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER

Kol Nidre services will be held by the Jewish members of Congregation Temple Beth Shalom at Belle Glade tonight at 8 o'clock. Day of Atonement services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Day of Atonement is so called for on that day the Book of Life is open and mankind is called to answer for their past deeds of the year gone by. Therefore, the members of Temple Beth Shalom wish to take this opportunity to extend their appreciation and thanks to citizens of Pahokee and Belle Glade and the Glades area for the support in the past and trust that this same support will continue on in the future.

Eye-Care tips

E.T.O.C.B. WISDOM

FOLLOW A PROPER DIET—A WELL BALANCED DIET WITH PLenty OF THE ESSENTIAL FOOD ELEMENTS AND VITAMINS, INCLUDING VITAMIN A FOR THE EYES, PROPER EYE CARE IS ESSENTIAL FOR GOOD EYE HEALTH AND VISION OF THE INDIVIDUAL.

Visit your eye doctor at least once a year. Everyone has periodic check-ups with the doctor but most people neglect their eyes, which, unlike teeth, cannot be replaced.

Get plenty of rest. The eyes, like other organs of the body need rest to give them strength for the job they are called on to do every day. Help reduce the strain by closing your eyes for several eye muscle stretches every day.
